Photo of print output. Please ignore shadows and reflections. The Illustrator artwork is simply one solid blue box object with a white object on top (outlined font text). There should be no variations in the blue.

In the areas where long stretches of white exist, there is a shift in the blue for the remainder of print head travel. Why?

Printer: HP 26500

Onyx rip